

The Perfect

The Perfect

The Perfect Script
2026 PCG by Epic Underworlds

Intro

"You wake up in a strange skin. You're in a place familiar, but also strange. There are swaying fields of golden grass, and the ocean sleeps on the horizon. You feel judgement, but you also feel a sense of excitement."

A: The creature's name is The Perfect. The player cannot gain his attention in most of anything that they do. It appears he is staring off into space, contemplating.

B: A boat that the player needs to get to in order to sail away and win the game. If they try to go to the boat, The Perfect will cry, causing a shower of glue-like tears to fall onto the player, freezing them for eternity.

C: A floating paintbrush.

D: A magical canvas which the player can remove, and a new one will grow in its place.

E: The player. Their skin is paint, and it contains every color of the rainbow. They can use the brush and the paint on their skin to paint the canvas.

Win condition. The player will have to physically draw art until one piece they make attracts the attention of The Perfect. If it is a good work of art, then it will cause him to contemplate it for enough time for the player to reach the boat and sail away.

-If the player wants to win, they must draw a sketch of The Perfect himself.

-Other entries are up to the PCG master to decide if they are worthy of timeless contemplation.

Extra Layers

-If the player tries to talk to The Perfect, they will look off into the distance and talk about how imperfect humans really are.

The game is ment to be open ended and encourages creative solutions, so don't be afraid to go with new ideas. Maybe they draw a PCG for The Perfect to play.
