

STAR TREK
SELUC OCULES

"DROWN"

STAR TREK: SELUCO: DROWN
PCG MINI
By: Xaq
2022 Paper Computer Game

Introduction: You play as Seluco who is the first Yak Person science officer in Starfleet! You have been beamed down to this alien planet to investigate it.

Pg#1: On this screen you see Seluco (the character you are playing as) in the middle of the screen. You are equipped with a communication device that allows you to communicate with the ship, and you also have a phaser that you can use to shoot things. You also have a Tricorder, which allows you to scan things. All around you are just random rocks from the planet, but you are not strong enough to pick them up, so all you can really do is keep moving.

Pg#2: On this page you see a strange source of oil flowing from this strange research facility. To get across you must roll one of the boulders over the oil. To the right of the facility is a strange Pikachu that just stares at you. (you can not communicate with the Pikachu, and he is just there to stare at you and nothing else). You can use your phaser to blast through the window of the research facility and get inside. The researchers inside the building tell you that there is a strange oil infecting their planet, and some parts have even gained sentience!!! In the left of the screen you can see the oil standing up, and it will touch your face, and then you go to pg#3.

Pg#3: You feel dizzy and nostalgic, and you start to miss your friends such as Din Jarin, George, Navi the fairy, Mary, and especially the strange creature under George the minecraft dude.

THE END

To find out more, check out the other PCG Minis in this series - such as Pokemon Stop: Keys, Star Wars: The Book of Ending, etc!