2022 Paper Computer Game

By: Epic Worlds PCG

Intro: You play as Greid the Tryptozian from the PCG Exploring Shogon. This game takes place before that game, but this game shows you how Greid got his staff that can control water!

Pg#1: On this page your other friend named Jenzo dares you to go down and touch the bottom of the ocean!!! At first you are scared, but then he calls you a sea cucumber, and out of embarrassment you go down to touch the bottom.

Pg#2: As you get closer to the bottom you see a shiny green and yellow light, and since you are curious you go and take a look. As you reach the bottom you meet a strange looking creature named Casmario who is the ancient protector of the Tryptozian Soul Chest. For centuries he had sworn to protect it, and that he had. Within the Soul Chest lies every soul of every Tryptozian that has ever died, and if that were to ever get opened then all of the old Tryptozians ghosts would be unleashed, and a war would unleash, because the ghosts would try to kill the souls of other Tryptozians and take over them! Then all of a sudden you hear a swoosh from behind the giant seaweed columns, and out of nowhere comes a Submarine.....Casmario tries to fight him off, and has the upper hand, but then the sub releases a cloud of black ink, and disappears along with the chest. You see some bubbles leading in a certain direction, so you decide to follow it.

Pg#3: You see the sub, and you see there is a logo on it. It says THE COMPANY! You decide to keep following it to try to get the chest back.

Pg#4: You follow the sub into the massive sea cave called The Great Tomb. (it is called this for unknown reasons, but your elders have told you this information). There are giant seaweed columns, but you can't really do anything with them.

Pg#5: As you head into the cave a strange creature pulls you aside and you notice it as The Water God who controls all oceans on every planet in the PCG Universe.(others call him Thorus). He notices your dire need, and gives you a staff that allows you to control water! This power is not yet too strong, but you can do basic stuff with it like create a small whirlpool or move objects using the water.

Pg#6: You keep following the sub, and enter a huge cavern where you see Deshack-Tov-Ishen who was banished from the main Triptozian city many years ago for creating illegal weapons, many people had thought that he had died, but he has returned. The sub hands him the Soul Box (the player can use their water powers to get it back). You must kill him before he releases the Souls. He has a huge cannon arm that shoots huge cannon balls the size of asteroids, so you must stop them with your water powers. Once you have returned the box to Casmario then the game has been completed!
